

The ACI Dealing Certificate and How to Pass it

The ACI Dealing Certificate is the industry standard qualification for market professionals in the global cash and derivatives markets.

This book is intended as the definitive guide to the examination and its syllabus. It is also useful for anyone whose financial effectiveness would be enhanced by explanations of the market, its products and operation.

It can be purchased as a stand-alone training manual (GBP 40.00) or on Special Offer with Multimedia TradeWind Limited's unique PC based WinFOREX 'Lite' Module DC PC based distance learning product (GBP 95.00). See the company website for full details.

Available from www.lywood-david.co.uk and all good financial bookshops

Check out the company website for news regarding the NEW on-line interactive pay-per-view training facilities offered by the ACI RESOURCE CENTRE www.lywood-david.co.uk/aci1.htm aimed initially at ACI Dealing Certificate candidates.

Further on-line training resources aimed at the ACI Operations Certificate and the ACI Diploma are scheduled to follow later in the year.

Lywood David International Limited
Multimedia TradeWind Limited
ACI Resource Centre

For over seventeen years Lywood David International Limited has had an excellent record of success in presenting training and revision courses for ACI examination candidates. Also over this time Multimedia TradeWind Limited has pioneered the development of PC based distance learning products and the WinFOREX product is now recognized as the market leader in PC based distance learning for candidates for the ACI suite of examinations. With continuing changes in examination syllabuses, format and marking methodology, it is important that candidates are well prepared in the subject matter of all topics in the examination of their choice and the company continually update the WinFOREX products.

The ACI ACADEMY - a formal open course (see facing page) is available in London at least twice a year from Lywood David International Limited but for many candidates, travel, overseas accommodation and training costs sometimes make attendance on training courses in the major financial centres out of the question. More and more these days individual candidates and their employing financial institutions who, for one reason or another are not able to release personnel for course attendance, are seeking flexible distance learning methods to enable their personnel to train and revise for the industry standard ACI Education suite of examinations. Lywood David International Limited / Multimedia TradeWind Limited are now offering such training resources, some on a complimentary basis with on-line interactive training programmes offered on a pay-per-download and pay-per-view basis.

Complimentary downloads of examination tips, quizzes and other useful training material are available on-line to individual candidates, their employing institutions, ACI/Forex Associations and Business Schools. Affordable pay-per-view on-line training programmes based on Lywood David International Limited's tried and tested open course presentations along with downloadable training texts, workpapers and full 'mock' (trial) examinations are additionally available after registration on the company website.

Check out what's available at www.lywood-david.co.uk/aci1.htm.

Multimedia TradeWind Limited
WinFOREX Modules DC, OPS and DIP

Please see the separate WinFOREX brochure for full details of this unique PC based study aid for ACI candidates. The product incorporates interactive ACI and ACI style questions and answers, the ability to random generate 'mock' (trial) examinations, an Excel spreadsheet based on the ACI formulae sheet to practise calculations and a screen-viewable accompanying text (420+ pages for the ACI Diploma).

Alongside WinFOREX – the unique PC based interactive training software, other products available for purchase on the company website of interest to ACI candidates include pre-programmed HP17bII+ calculators and Excel-based spreadsheets based on the ACI formulae used in examination calculation questions.

A full list of distance learning products and other materials is available on the company website...
